Boel Westin is Professor Emeritus of Literature at Stockholm University in Sweden where she was chair of Children's Literature between 1998 and 2018. Westin is the author of the authorized biography Tove Jansson: Life, Art, Words (2007/2014), which has been translated into five languages. Her latest book is Letters from Tove, ed. together with Helen Svensson (2019). Forthcoming is the article "Nostalgia" in the second edition of Keywords for Children's Literature (2020). Boel Westin's present research focuses on animals in literature and early modern literature for children and young people. She is Chief Editor of a new history of Swedish children's literature, a work conducted in collaboration with the Swedish Institute for Children's Books. She is the chair of the Jury for the Astrid Lindgren Memorial Award.
